

Faith and Feelings

Sensing deep love of life, all around belief in its beauty and richness, whispering of breezes through the trees, leaves fluttering along the ground and flying through the air, fingers of flowers – wisteria, cherry blossom- with the change of season, spring, daffodils, lilacs, wattle and many more moving to the music and melody of the wind and rain – elements of our world- spirit of our Living God. Birds and their freedom, flitting around the bushes, missing all the obstacles in their path, freely turning in all directions through the air. The sea shore, its waves with white flurries on top, small boats bobbing up and down, great launches cutting their path through the waves leaving patterns spreading through our ocean and sensing all feelings—beauty, peace, hope and joy! God's gift,

Inspiration and Hope

Clouds sit as islands in the blue of the ocean
Beneath is the green of the earth
With branches like spires reaching
Reaching for the heavens above
The palms tall and elegant swaying in the breeze
In the distance the music of the waters
Lapping at their feet—
Goodnight sweet dreams-
And Hope a-longing for the morrow!
